

London's crime by constituency

December 2010 to July 2011

EXCLUSIVE to Planning in London and courtesy of www.ukcrimestats.com

The data are sorted under London to show highest total number of all crimes first. (ASB incidents are not criminal offenses). If sorted by crime rate this would deflate crime by the static resident population but it doesn't really work in London because the population is so mobile (writes Dan Lewis, director of UKcrimestats.com). This is why Westminster comes top because the other parts of the country effectively export their people and crime there! That is, the high throughput of population inflates the opportunity for crime.

Of the Space Syntax preliminary findings – see our cover story – Dan Lewis comments: "Space Syntax's work is very interesting, but I rather doubt that spatial design is uncausal to the riots as they seem to imply."
